In the movie "Back To The Future" Marty McFly (Michael J. Fox) and Doc Emmett Brown (Christopher Lloyd) travel in time. In the large painting (100 x 200 cm) that artist Peter Engels painted, we see the two main actors with their DeLorean time machine and the Hill Valley clock tower in the background. The painting will be auctioned at catawiki.com in a specialized theme auction dedicated to Back To The Future.

Peter Engels previously auctioned the portrait of Daniel Craig in a James Bond auction. The painting is now in a large 007 collection in London.

The portrait of Brigitte Bardot undressing also went under the hammer in a movie memorabilia auction. The sensual artwork departed for its new, loving home in Rome. In the Star Wars themed auction, the portrait of Luke Skywalker actor Mark Hamill was sold to the highest bidder, the Saber Museum in Singapore. They promptly ordered 2 more Star Wars portraits.

Painted with the pallet knife

For this Back To The Future artwork Peter Engels used a special colour combination, pink and teal, to emphasize the nighttime effect. This one-off original painting comes with certificate of authenticity signed by the artist. It is mainly painted with the pallet knife on high quality Brussels cotton canvas stretched on an aluminium museum quality frame.
